

COMMISSION IN QUANDARY TODAY

Is The Stock And Bond Law Worthless Or What Is The Trouble With The Law?

CAN NOT STOP WATERING STOCKS

Board Can Only Act As An Automation In The Matter—Must Grant Requests Of The Corporations So Long As They Hand In Their Reports.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 27.—Notwithstanding the months of labor which the last Wisconsin legislature devoted to the enactment of the stock and bond law, the purpose of which was to prevent the watering of stocks of public service corporations, so that indebtedness might not be piled upon the proprietors and the day of retribution of rates thus be delayed, a decision by the railroad commission rendered yesterday in the Madison traction case, shows that the law fails utterly in its purpose and the commission is powerless to refuse to grant a certificate of permission to issue bonds. The Madison company asked and received permission to issue $300,000 of bonds. The city made strenuous opposition, and the commission set forth that the Madison property has been loaded with indebtedness of five times the actual cost to build the entire system now, but there is no authority to prevent the issue of additional bonds.

The city attorney demanded that the commission deny the certificate, as was done in a New York instance, but the commission called his attention to the fact that he failed to show the similarity between the New York and the Wisconsin laws, or to point to any provision in the Wisconsin law authorizing the commission to refuse to grant the certificate.

Discussing the Wisconsin law, the commission refers to the laws of other states on this subject, and mentions the fact that the law in Massachusetts "restricts the issuance of stock and bonds to the amount reasonably required for the purpose for which it is authorized." The New York law also clearly gives the commission the power to grant or refuse the certificate.

Referring to documents placed on file by the corporation, the commission sets forth that "the authorized bond issue of the Southern Wisconsin Railway company equals approximately five times the cost of reproduction now of the property upon which the bonds rest, while the outstanding bonds may be regarded as superbares for the promoter. In round numbers, the bonded indebtedness at present outstanding amounts to $90,000 per mile; total bonds outstanding and authorized $100,000 per mile; while the cost of reproduction now, today is less than $21,000 per mile."

"According to the statements filed with the commission by the Southern Wisconsin Railway company, the name of the company owning the Madison street railway system has been metamorphosed five times since the year 1905.

"Each change of name was apparently accompanied by a fusion of some of the old and a dilution of the new securities representing the property."

The commission devotes a large part of the decision to the discussion of the new law, and particularly to the fact that the commission is without authority to refuse a certificate if all desired information is filed by the applicant corporation. The decision sets forth the language of the law applicable to this part of the decision, requiring that the application shall state the amount and kind of securities sought to be issued, the purposes for which the money realized from the sale of the securities is to be used, that the securities are to be issued only for money, the terms, the total assets and liabilities of the corporation in such detail as the commission may require. "The commission may also require the corporation to furnish any further statements or facts or evidence that it may deem pertinent to the inquiry." Then follows in the decision the following language of the law underlined:

"The commission shall thereupon issue to the corporation a certificate stating the amount, character, purposes and terms on which such stocks, certificates of stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness are proposed to be issued."

"In our judgment," says the commission, "this sentence just quoted is unequivocally mandatory and precludes the exercise of alternative powers on the part of the commission in this respect."

WANTS SATISFACTION FOR INJURY TO MARE

Charles T. Hoddie Serves Notice That City Will be Held Responsible For His Trotter's Broken Ankle.

Through his attorney, Fethers, Jeffers & Monat, Charles T. Hoddie has filed at the office of City Clerk A. E. Budger a notice of a claim for damages against the city of Janesville for injuries sustained by his trotter, named mare, at the C. & N. W. By crossing on North Jackson street on the 14th of September. It is stated in the notice that the animal had her right hind foot caught between the plankling and the rail and sustained a broken ankle; that this plank which was lying next south of the north-east rail had been rotted and worn so as to leave a deep and dangerous hole about 4 inches wide and from 3 to 4 inches deep between the rail and the edge of the timber; and that the westerly end of the said plank was loose and raised out of place, thus increasing the liability of a horse getting its hoof in the said pitfall.

The extent of the satisfaction which is to be claimed is not named. Dr. George Little, the veterinarian, who is attending the injured animal has hoped that she may completely recover the use of the injured foot. A swing has been rigged in the stall and is used to raise and lower the "patient."

METHODISTS DISCUSS THE WORK OF CHURCH

Lack of Spirituality Is the Topic for This Morning's Discussion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—Dearth of spirituality in the churches of his district was excused by the Rev. G. C. Cernichael, presiding elder of the Fond du Lac district, in his report before the Methodist conference today. He said, "It is simply heartbreaking when we see the indifference and spiritlessness existing in some of our large churches. Many of them can only be likened to a man who has taken an overdose of opium. The preacher must preach against sin even if it means short sermons and one-year pastorate." One of these men in his district is reported to have said to the now preacher, "There are two things you must not preach about in our church, temperance and religion." Several candidates were admitted to the conference this morning and the bishop made his address to the class.

Edward Walrath, Who Abused Confidence Reposed in Him as "Trusty," Will Have Steady Diet of Bread and Water.

It will be bread and water until November and then some for Edward Walrath of Edgerton, who abused the confidence displayed in him by the officials and used the opportunity afforded him as "trusty" to run away about a fortnight ago. Mr. Walrath was unwise enough to visit the city again today and tarry for a time in some of the local gin-mills. Report that he was in town quickly reached Sheriff Fisher and the latter captured him near Craft's livery barn at noon and took him to the bastille, where he was sent up for sixty days for drunkenness. He had acted as "trusty" on a previous occasion when he was doing time here and the officials felt quite safe in making use of him in this capacity again. He performed his duties faithfully for a few days and then the temptation to make himself scarce proved too strong for him and he failed to return from an errand on which he was dispatched.

EVIDENCE FOR GOVERNMENT IS NOT CONTROVERSED

Testimony In Land Graft Case At Boise, Idaho, Damaging To Members Of Conspiracy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Bolton, Idaho, Sept. 27.—After having spent all of the previous day in bringing out the testimony of thirteen persons who admitted they had taken out claims to timber lands for the express purpose of selling them to members of an alleged land-grabbing conspiracy, the government attorneys in the trial of U. S. Senator Borah yesterday turned the line of evidence into new channels which they claim will tend to affect the defendant senator. The testimony adduced up to Thursday has been confined to the activities of John L. Wells and Louis M. Pritchard, two of the men under indictment. None of the "dummy" entrymen examined on Wednesday was cross-examined and the testimony they received from Wells the money with which to prove their claims and from Pritchard the $250 bonus for surrendering their titles went uncontested. Just prior to adjournment the prosecuting attorneys identified the signatures of former Gov. Frank Steinenberg and William Sweet to a document said to have been a contract. It is alleged that Steinenberg and Sweet jointly furnished the money with which the first alleged fraudulent transactions were carried on.

The government has divided its case into three sections. The first deals with the claims which were turned over to Albert E. Palmer of Spokane, who is said to have acted as "dummy" trustee for the Barber Lumber company. All the testimony bearing on these claims is gone into. The second set of claims, it is alleged, were handled through George S. Long, who the government promises will eventually take the stand as the most important witness for the prosecution. S. R. Rush of Omak, the special assistant to the attorney general, who has been active in timber and coal land prosecutions throughout the west, has assumed control of the case while the evidence is being put in.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 27.—On a technicality, Will F. Barnes of Rockford, charged with exceeding the auto speed limit on the streets of Beloit, may escape being fined. The law reads that violators of sections 1, 2, 3, 5, and 6 are punishable by a fine or imprisonment and Barnes is only held under section 3. District Attorney Fischer argues that the "and" was meant for "or" and the matter has been submitted to the attorney general of Wisconsin.

OATS ARE POOR IN THE STATE AT LARGE

Prof. R. A. Moore Says the Crop Is Below the Average This Year—Other Crop Reports.

The out crop in Wisconsin is the poorest in twenty-five years; the corn crop is but ordinary and will probably fall below last year's yield; barley grown from 'select seed' is way above the average and the sugar beet crop is still developing rapidly.

This is the way Prof. R. A. Moore, head of the department of agronomy, sums up the crop outlook for the present year.

"The out crop is very poor," continued Prof. Moore. "On the basis of ten we haven't a 60 per cent crop this year. The average this year is between twenty-two and twenty-three bushels to the acre, as against thirty-four last year. This was due largely to the lateness of the spring and the unusual amount of wet weather."

"The corn crop is but ordinary, and I think with even the most favorable weather yet, it will fall below last year's yield."

"On the whole the corn crop of the state has been guidance in averages in recent years. We are working hard to get the farmers of this state to understand that it is climatic to Wisconsin—the barley crop is good. The yield of select barley will probably be above the average. About nine years ago we asked the farmers of the state to grow a certain kind of barley, as it was best suited for Wisconsin. Good results have been obtained, and I believe 1,500,000 bushels of this one kind have been grown in Wisconsin alone this year."

LACK OF SUNSHINE IS BAD FOR PLANS

Blue Prints of New Y. M. C. A. Building Cannot be Made While Sky is Dark.

As soon as Old Sol makes a portion of himself for a period of about two hours blue prints of the plans that may be erected at the new North-Western mortaring yards, will be made and sent to the officials of the railroad company. The plans were completed yesterday and the architect was anxious to have the sun shine so that blue prints of the plans could be made. The officials of the company have shown a keen interest in the possibility of the construction of a Y. M. C. A. building at the new yards, as before stated in the Gazette. The plans drawn outline a building that would accommodate 25 persons with all the modern conveniences incorporated.

The employment committee of the directory board is still busy corresponding with candidates for the position of physical director who is to be engaged. The committee will decide on a man at a meeting to be held next Monday night. The board of directors authorized the committee to act with power in regard to selecting a physical director at the last directory meeting. Since then the committee has had correspondence with several candidates—but will probably not come to a conclusion in the matter until they meet Monday night.

N. M. Kant & Co. Market Letter.

Wheat—Wheat has been fairly active and during most of the season ruled higher much to the surprise of the majority of traders who expected heavy liquidation in response to the weaker cables from Liverpool. The buying for the most part was of a good character and influenced largely by a very creditable report regarding the crop of the Canadian northwest issued by a prominent local stationer and former cables from the continent, the latter being in the market for some time lots of red winter wheat. On the advance which ensued offerings became more liberal and the subsequent action of the market would indicate that some long wheat was liquidated and at the close the market looked as though lower prices would be in order tomorrow.

Corn and oats exhibited strength throughout the session although oats seemed to be influenced more by the strength in corn than anything else, and just before the close receded, but last night's latest figures, corn, however, closed strong and higher.

Provisions were erratic with some rather urgent liquidation in evidence during the session principally of the nearby futures.

SAYS BAD CRIMP IN TOBACCO IS FELT

Edgerton Tobacco Reporter Sees Gloomy Outlook for This Year's Crop.

A light frost on the morning of the 21st, supplemented by a more severe one on the 24th, has put a bad crimp in the tobacco harvest. A vast amount of tobacco has been cut since the cold wave warnings were sent out, much of it immature at that, but it seems pretty generally agreed that from the 25 to 26 per cent of the crop of the state has been caught in the fields and more or less marred by the freeze. Hundreds of acres of fine looking tobacco that needed but a few days more of warm weather to mature, and a little time for the farmers to harvest, has been injured if not entirely ruined. It is hard to say at this writing just how much of it the grower will attempt to save. Not alone will the growers of this state sustain such losses from this source.

The cool weather of the week has hardly been exactly suitable for the curing out of the harvested tobacco and a good deal of warm weather will still be needed to see it safely through.

The market for old leaf drags along uneventful. A few moderate sized sales are recorded but trading has not yet reached to the dimensions of packings. Shipping of last year's packings is still going on but is getting well along. G. H. Rummel reports the sale of 2000 for the week, shipments out of storage reach but about 400 for the week to all points from this market.

The first frost of the season in this locality was visible on the morning of the 21st, laying its mark here and there on low ground, and consequently more or less of the standing tobacco has been touched. But for the delay of the heavy rains last week, the crop would have been pretty generally secured. As matters stand, probably one-quarter of the crop is yet in the fields, which if not on high grounds or otherwise protected will show the effect of the freeze. The trees have been unequal ones. Frequent rains have kept the crop growing instead of maturing and the scarcity of help just at the pinch when the rush of the work was at hand, all tended to the delay. Considerable losses, too, it is thought, have been cut too green because of the anxiety of growers to beat out the frost, one thing seems clearly demonstrated—the last week in September is too late to harvest tobacco in this latitude, to my minding of the chances of securing the curing of the leaf in the sheds. We must yet be favored with plenty of warm weather to bring about the curing of the tobacco lately transferred to the sheds. So escaping frost is not the only danger to be encountered by a late crop.

KAFIR CORN FROM SOUTHWEST KANSAS

Charles N. Riker Brings Back Specimens of This Famous Corn, from Kansas.

Charles N. Riker, who recently returned from a visit to his niece, Mrs. Wallace Lawell, at Caldwell, Kansas, brings with him specimens of Kafir Corn which are most interesting. The corn looks like a bunch of tassels and has a fine little berry-like seed on it. It makes excellent feed for chickens and is very good for cattle when cut up and ground. It can be threshed similar to the regular wheat and it is sometimes called Kafir wheat. Mr. Riker brought back enough of the product to furnish his nephew, George Clark, who lives at Mt. Zion, with seed for a few experimental rows of the product next year. Mr. Riker also has in his garden some Chinas, a strange plant that produces a nut which grows underground similar to a potato and has a taste like a Brazil nut.

Advice to Communities That Want His Services Is Explained Below.

The Wisconsin livestock sanitary board is organized to protect the health of the livestock of this state, and this work is done through its executive officer, the state veterinarian. In order to obtain the services and attention of the state veterinarian it is necessary that stock-owners call in a veterinarian to examine their stock when illing, and if there be found among them a disease of an infected or contagious nature, such as tuberclosis, glanders, anthrax, black leg, haemorrhagic septicemia, hog cholera, swine plague, ringworm, foot and mouth disease, pleuro-pneumonia, anthracosys or rabies, the owner or attendant of such stock should report same to the health officer of the town, village or city in which stock is kept. It is then the duty of the health officer to make a full report of the case in writing to the state veterinarian. All such notices must come through the health officer of the town, village or city in which stock is kept, in order to receive attention.

CREDIT CURRENCY URGED BY BANKS

REPORT OF HEPBURN COMMISSION ADOPTED BY THEM.

FOUGHT BY WESTERN MEN

They Advocate Central Reserve Fund and Reform of Banking Methods
—Reply by Congressman Fowler.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 27.—The report of the currency commission appointed by the American Bankers' Association at St. Louis last year was made Thursday to the convention of the American Bankers' association, now in session in this city. The report recommends a measure introduced in the last session of congress known as the credit currency bill.

The provisions of the proposed act were made known to the convention by A. B. Hepburn of New York, chairman of the commission. The report was adopted and the commission was continued and its powers enlarged. Western Men Object.

An attack upon the plan of the commission was made by a number of western delegates, especially by A. J. Frame of Michigan, who contended that the primary cause of money shortage in the United States was due to over-speculation and that the credit currency plan pointed backward to eighteenth century flatland. As an alternative he advocated a central reserve fund. He was supported in his views by a number of other members, to all of whom Congressman Charlton N. Fowler, of New Jersey, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, replied in a stirring speech. He declared that this country is the only one without some form of credit currency.

When Mr. Hepburn finished his report a motion was made to continue the currency commission, and immediately there was a protest from Delegate Yates, of Omaha. He said there was no public sentiment for the Hepburn bill. The question, he said, was also a political one, and the members of the association should remember 1896, "When we only pulled through by the skin of our teeth."

"What we need," he said, "is reform of banking methods. We should use the cash reserves locked up in Washington and not ask congress to put out speculative notes guaranteed by the people of the United States. They will not stand for it."

Parker of Quincy Has Plan.
E. J. Parker, of Quincy, Ill., suggested that the government obtain control of all clearing houses, which could, he said, be operated as a central bank to relieve stringency in the money market and thus eliminate the necessity for another inflation of the currency.

Congressman Fowler, in attacking the stand of the opponents of the credit currency measure, said that there is not a country in the face of the earth except the United States which did not have a credit currency built on the same general lines as that prepared by the commission to meet the expansion and contraction of business. He declared that the credit of foreign countries had not been affected by the addition of millions of dollars to their circulation under a currency plan such as proposed. Laws requiring a high interest and tending to force back the borrowed funds are unnecessary, he said, despite the contention of the opponents of the measure, as the regulation of business is certain to bring back the money to the banks.

The association adopted, after a long debate, an amendment to the constitution in reference to changing the methods of electing members of the executive council. The amendment will increase the membership of the council from 35 to 57.

GREATEST DISPLAY OF CORN IN ILLINOIS

Exhibit of Corn at State Fair This Week Largest Ever Shown In Sucker State.

[EXCERPT FROM THE HARPER.]
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—The great quantities of corn the Illinois farmer is raising this year are illustrated in one of the striking features of the features of the State Fair, which opened for a week in this city today. The display of the corn is the largest ever grown in the state.

In nearly all other respects the fair this year is more elaborate than ever before, and the live stock show, the swine show and the poultry show are the most complete in the history of the association. In the agricultural and horticultural departments the displays are numerous and embrace everything grown on farm, orchard and garden. The exhibits of women's work and of machinery are also worthy of special note, and the strictly amusement features of the fair are numerous and of a high class. The stables are filled with fast horses and with good weather conditions a successful racing program is expected. The city presents a holiday appearance today in anticipation of the arrival of many visitors.

INDISCRETE AND FANATICAL

Bishop Hamilton, now presiding at the Methodist annual conference in Milwaukee, made himself obnoxious to the good people of the cream city by intimating that the San Francisco earthquake was a punishment to the city because of corruption and wickedness, and that God had probably overlooked Milwaukee.

The bishop had caught sight of a brewery, and being a pronounced temperance advocate, the vision was too much for him, and he immediately concluded that an earthquake or some other dispensation of divine Providence, would be visited upon the city, as soon as the Lord got around to it. The Evening Wisconsin takes the bishop to task, and in commenting says: "On reflection it will be impossible for normally constituted people, however devout, to take seriously the bishop's hint of impending disaster for Milwaukee in the form of a miraculously explosion of divine wrath such as overwhelmed the cities of the plain. There will be no rush for earthquake insurance by the people of this city."

Bishop Hamilton undoubtedly means well, and possibly believes the crazy statement which he is reported to have made regarding the San Francisco disaster, and Milwaukee's impending danger, but his conference is being entertained by this wicked metropolis, and common courtesy would have suggested commendation, rather than criticism.

This sort of fanaticism is what weakens the church, and it is especially harmful when emanating from men in authority. The word of a bishop is law, to many people who find thinking a burden, and Bishop Hamilton had in his audience many young preachers who will go home to wait with bated breath for the destruction of the wicked city, because of the bishop's warning.

When the cow kicked over the lamp and started a conflagration which caused the city of Chicago to go up in smoke, people who enjoy a display of divine wrath said that God wiped out the city because of wickedness, but out of the ashes came a new beginning, which doubtless disconcerted the old.

There are some questions that even so wise a man as a bishop may not be able to solve, but it is a little unfair to hold him responsible for permitting accidents to occur from natural causes.

Milwaukee is the best metropolis one of the best states in the union—a city noted for order and for orderliness. Less drunkenness prevails on the streets than is seen in many no-keeps towns.

It is a German city, conservative, temperate, and honest. Unless Bishop Hamilton is in direct communication with Jehovah, and is advised of His intentions concerning Milwaukee, he will add neither to reputation nor stature by prognosticating on uncertainties.

THE DIFFERENCE

An Englishman, who spends a good deal of time in this country, has contributed an article to the Saturday Evening Post, in which he compared the customs of the two countries. He claims that our much-buzzed freedom is a snare and delusion, and that personal liberty is an unknown quantity, as compared with the mother country. He says that in England the question of a man's business is never discussed, while in this country everybody is interested in what everybody else is doing and yelling to lend a

DO YOU WANT TO EARN A PIANO?

THIS BEAUTIFUL
STORY & CLARK
PIANO IS GOING TO SOMEBODY
FREE.

In addition numerous other prizes will be given away.

WE EMPLOY NO CANVASSERS.

We want the name of every householder in Janesville, Beloit, Monroe, Evansville and vicinity who does not own an upright piano. We have taken this method to obtain them quickly.

To the person sending in the largest number of names of heads of households who have no upright piano, with correct street address, and after list is verified by the judges, we will deliver to such person, free of expense, the $350.00 Story & Clark Piano illustrated above.

In addition to the above, for the name and address of each party marked special, you send us, who contemplates purchasing a piano before Oct. 31, 1907, you will receive a certificate of $10 for each name, which we will credit as payment on a piano, or pay you the amount in cash, if we sell such parties a piano before Oct. 31, 1907.

In the event of a tie happening between successful contestants, prizes identical in character and value will be given to each.

CONDITIONS

Only names of heads of households not owning an upright piano, with proper street or P. O. address, will be counted.

Names of heads of households living in rural district outside of city, town or village limits will be counted as two names owing to difficult canvassing.

No names of children, minors, or of persons owning upright pianos will be counted.

Names of heads of households who now have a square piano or organ can be included in the list.

But one name in each household, though names may be different, will be counted.

Number each name and total it at the bottom of the list, and write your name and address plainly.

All lists must be in our office in Janesville, Wis., before Oct. 5, 1907.

Your name will not be known in connection with these lists in any way, as we only want the names for the purpose of mailing our advertising matter.

Only individual lists will be counted.

If any of the conditions are violated the entire list will be thrown out.

You will be surprised to find how few names you will be able to send; hence do not be discouraged if your list is small.

The following well-known citizens of Janesville, Beloit, Monroe and Evansville will act as judges: District Attorney John L. Flaher, Mayor S. D. Hedges, Janesville; Edward Hanson, Cashier Beloit Savings Bank, Beloit; Prof. A. H. Shultz, Supt. Schools, Evansville; J. M. Stauffacher, County Clerk Green county, Monroe, Wis.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday,
Sept. 27, 1867.—Speech.—Matt H.
Carpenter made one of his thrilling speeches upon the political situation of the day to an immense audience in the Assembly chamber at Madison last evening.

Baptists.—The Baptist society expect to occupy Lippin's hall for religious services next Sunday morning and evening for the last time. The social rooms in their new church will be ready for use the second Sabbath of next month.

The State Fair.—We took a look at the state fair yesterday. The attendance was good but not so large as the corresponding day a year ago, and we do not think the receipts will be as large by several thousands of dollars as they were last year. The show in all departments, we think, is equally equal to any exhibition ever held here.

A Fearful Runaway.—Last evening

as Mr. Patton, Sr., and daughter were coming from Mt. Zion they drove into a ditch near the residence of Dr.
Whiting, when the father was thrown out. The horse immediately started upon a run and came down East Milwaukee street at a terrific pace—the lady courageously keeping her seat.
The horse turned at a short corner at Blue street where he lost hold of the vehicle including Miss Patton, after which he ran down Court street and plunged into the porch in front of the American house. Luckily neither one of the persons was injured although the buggy was pretty thoroughly demolished. The lady's presence of mind in clinging to the carriage doubtless saved her some broken bones.

The Madison Journal asserts that the letter of L. C. Draper, declining to be a candidate for superintendent of public instruction on the democratic ticket, has been suppressed by the committee. Very well. The people will suppress the said Draper if the committee insist on his running.

In a real estate deal consummated last Monday, W. J. Miller sold a 40-acre tract of land to Gustav Nuhr, the monetary consideration being $2,000.
The land is situated across the road just north of Mr. Nuhr's home farm

Many shoes appear beautiful in a store window. But the shoe you want is the one that keeps its good looks—the La France. Permanent beauty requires far more than high-grade materials or even thorough workmanship. To these rare shoe qualities must be added the skill and accurate knowledge of the designer who is able to perfectly fit coming footwear styles to the lines of a woman's foot. The popularity of the La France is partly due to its varying glove-like fit—the true basis for enduring shoe attractiveness. What, then, would be more becoming on your feet than the La France—the quality shoe of lasting beauty that wears as well as it looks.

Every woman needs on her feet should be the La France. Her shoes make her comfortable in addition to being places of the perfect fit. La France.

WASHINGTON IS WAKING UP NOW

ROOSEVELT BACK AND FALL
WORK IS BEGUN.

GENERAL CAPITAL GOSSIP

Many Matters of Vital Importance
Will Come up Before Congress.

ESPECIALLY TO THE NATION.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt is home again, planned and showing the effects of his open-air life at Sagamore Hill, the chief executive is in fine fettle for the strenuous work ahead of him. He will remain here only a few days in order to put in motion the machinery of government, and then he will begin his western trip. He will speak at the dedication of the McKinley monument at Canton, Ohio, proceeding to Keokuk, Iowa, and then journeying down the Mississippi river to Memphis, where he will address the deep waterway convention there next Friday. Following this, the President probably will spend several days in the canneries of Louisiana in search of bears and such other game as may prove before his eyes. An amusing incident of the few days Mr. Roosevelt will spend here at this time will be the tennis match he will play on the White House courts with the Rev. A. F. Washington Ingram, lord bishop of London. Bishop Ingram has an enviable reputation as a wielder of the racquet and the President will find him a worthy opponent. The churchman is considered the champion long court player of the British episcopate.

In preparation for the coming convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which is to be held here Dec. 4-5, Captain J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati, secretary and treasurer of the organization, put in an appearance in Washington this week. As a result of his visit the big hall room in the New Willard hotel has been secured for the convention. The hall room has been the scene of many brilliant social functions and has also accommodated numerous business gatherings of national importance, but it is doubtful if any of the latter will prove to have been of more vital importance to the commerce of the country than will the forthcoming meeting. The necessity for increased transportation facilities to care for the rapidly growing traffic of commercial America is attracting the attention of both the business and political world. The National Rivers and Harbors congress would have railroad transportation augmented by water traffic, to the end that freight be moved more quickly, congestion done away with and rates materially cheapened through the healthful competition that would ensue. The organization is urging that congress appropriate not less than $50,000,000 annually for the work of improving the rivers and harbors of the country. Efforts, it is said, are being made to have the usual appropriation bill passed at the first session of the Sixty-sixth congress.

One of the subjects likely to receive considerable attention from congress at the next session is that of industrial education. From all parts of the country have come complaints of the difficulty of securing skilled mechanics. Many large employers of labor believe that the greatest menace to the continued commercial supremacy of the United States is the disappearance of the efficient and adapted craftsman to whom many labor-saving inventions have been due. This failure in the supply of high-class labor is attributed to the abandonment of the plan of practical manual training. The Davis bill, introduced last winter, provided for appropriations amounting to $1,000,000 for this purpose. This bill, with some alterations, is likely to be urged upon the federal lawmakers again at the next session. The Citizens' Industrial association, which is made up of representatives of employers, organized labor and the general public, is planning to take up this subject at its annual convention at Battle Creek, early in October, with a view to recommending a systematic plan of legislative treatment by the law-making bodies of both the nation and the states in providing for schools that will turn out young men equipped to enter the skilled trades. As this convention is the largest gathering of the year dealing exclusively with matters pertaining to labor and contains representatives of all classes, conclusions are likely to carry weight with the members of congress.

Senator William D. Allison will be returned to the senate, is the announcement made by Congressman John P. Lacy of Iowa. Mr. Lacy is here on business with the departments and his summing up of Iowa political fight is authoritative, for his name repeatedly has been mentioned as a successor to Mr. Alden. Mr. Lacy, however, adds, that he will not permit, under any circumstances, the use of his name in connection with the senatorship so long as Mr. Allison is a candidate. The congressman is a scrapper, as his record in congress will show, and he announced candidly that he would like nothing better than a battle with Governor Cummins, were Mr. Allison out of the race. Senator Allison, according to reports reaching here, has recovered fully from his recent illness and is once again the picture of health. It would be a real calamity, in the opinion of many, if Iowa's senior senator were not returned to the seat he has graced and which he has filled so ably for so many years.

the Fairbanks collection is situated in Alaska, but whether or not the name was chosen because of its peculiar adaptation to the requirements of no leechoid country is not known.

An address that is certain to attract the attention of congress is to be delivered here next month by Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the University of Nebraska. Dr. Andrews is to be the principal speaker at the fall convocation of the George Washington university, and he has chosen for his topic "The United States as a Pacific Ocean Power." It is understood his remarks will voice the sentiment of the people of the great middle west in the controversy that threatens to engage the early attention of the Sixtieth congress, namely, the proposed transfer of the battleship fleet from Atlantic to Pacific waters. The sentiment of the middle west probably will shape the trouble that is looming up. If the interior is not excited over the matter, it is likely that the hysteria of the people of the two seaboards will not be entertained seriously. Incidentally, the university opened this week for its eighty-seventh academic year with students from every state and territory and from many foreign countries. It is preparing to resume its campaign for re-election as the great graduate school of the western hemisphere, and to the end that its internationalization may be established on as broad a base as possible the faculty is inviting subscribers of any size to the endowment fund.

Ninety-five million bushels of wheat this is the official estimate of the 1907 crop in Canada's great wheat-growing province, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Owing to the flood of immigration which has caused an immense increase of acreage this year the crop was expected by statisticians to break previous records but their reports have been frequent on the Chicago Board of Trade and caused the price to fluctuate. Now comes the report of Col. A. D. Davidson, an intimate associate of President William Mackenzie of the Canadian Northern railway, not only denying the estimate of crop, but giving out the estimate of crop. His report says: "I find that the provinces of Saskatchewan give promise of raising the best crop in their history. The weather has been very favorable to all growing crops and after making extensive tour through these provinces I estimate the wheat crop of 1907 at 95,000,000. The crops in Manitoba have made wonderful progress during the last three or four weeks. By covering much of the territory in motor car I had abundant opportunity to view the situation close at hand." This report gives promise of another year of prosperity for 200,000 farmers from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas who are now grain growers in northwestern Canada.

Michigan is not leaning toward any of the candidates for republican presidential nomination, according to Senator William Alden Smith, who is here this week. The junior senator from Michigan talked guardedly of the situation, however. He declared the people of the state were too busy in the workshop and on the farm to have much time for the consideration of politics, but he thinks there exists a strong sentiment in favor of a third term for Roosevelt. Other public men whose names have been mentioned in connection with the nomination, he said, are spoken of favorably, but there is no crystallization of sentiment in any way.

Senator William D. Allison will be returned to the senate, is the announcement made by Congressman John P. Lacy of Iowa. Mr. Lacy is here on business with the departments and his summing up of Iowa political fight is authoritative, for his name repeatedly has been mentioned as a successor to Mr. Alden. Mr. Lacy, however, adds, that he will not permit, under any circumstances, the use of his name in connection with the senatorship so long as Mr. Allison is a candidate. The congressman is a scrapper, as his record in congress will show, and he announced candidly that he would like nothing better than a battle with Governor Cummins, were Mr. Allison out of the race. Senator Allison, according to reports reaching here, has recovered fully from his recent illness and is once again the picture of health. It would be a real calamity, in the opinion of many, if Iowa's senior senator were not returned to the seat he has graced and which he has filled so ably for so many years.

Are Given.

With the annual church dinner held in the church parlors last night the First Baptist church of this city closed the fifty-second year of its existence in Jamesville and at seven o'clock over four hundred members of the church and congregation sat down to a homely meal.

At the close of the dinner various toasts were responded to by different members and reports were given by representatives of the twelve different church organizations.

The Rev. R. M. Vaughan acted as toastmaster and introduced the various speakers with some clever stories and references to the particular work in which the speaker was engaged.

J. T. Fitchett responded to the toast "The Pop of a Ready Writer" and told of the growth of the church for the past year. He said it had been the banner year of the church and that more members had been received in the last year than in any other one year since it had been started, an even hundred new members, 80 of them by baptism, 16 by letter, 4 by exchange. The admissions were 31, of whom 16 were by death, 21 by letter. The present membership is 265. The treasurer of the church is W. E. Clinton. In responding to the toast "The Purse and Its Strings," he gave the financial report for the last year. He reported the total receipts of the year $4,473.56, expenditure $4,296.42.

Judge B. F. Dunwiddie responded to the toast "The Leaders of the Host" and at the close of his talk the officers of the church for the ensuing year were nominated and elected. Most of the outgoing officers were re-elected. The following officers were elected: Sunday school, superintendent, Roy Curier; advisory assistant, R. M. I DON'T know what you mean," said Beecot.

The lawyer gazed himself to make a concise statement of the case. "So far as I understand," he said in his nervous, tremble way, "these ladies claim to be the wife and daughter of Lemuel Krill, whom we know as Aaron Norman."

"And I think by his real name also," said the older woman, "to his daughter, as I understand the wording of the will runs. In that case this nameless gift has nothing."

"Push!" cried Beecot, turning despondingly to the little collector.

The old man shook his head and stuck in his cheeks. "I am sorry, Mr. Beecot," said he in a plodding tone, "but as the will stands the money must certainly go to the child born in wedlock. I have the certificate here," he laid his monkey paw on it, "but of course I shall make inquiries."

"It's all means," said Mrs. Krill gravely. "My daughter and myself have lived for many years in Christchurch, N. Z. We keep the fan there—not the principal inn, but a small public house on the outskirts of the village. It will be a change for us both to come into five thousand a year after such penury. Of course, Mr. Push, you will net for my daughter and myself."

"Mr. Push nets for Sylvia," cried Paul, still flinging at the door. The lawyer was on the horns of a dilemma.

"If what Mrs. Krill says is true I can't dispute the facts," he said irritably, "and I am unwilling to give up the business. Prove to me, umm, that you are the lawful widow of my late client, and that this is my late esteemed client's lawful daughter, and I will net for you."

"Mrs. Krill's ample bosom rose and fell and her eyes glinted triumphantly. She cast a victorious glance at Beecot. But that young man was looking at the collector. "Push leave the stinking ship," said he bitterly; "you will not prosper, Push."

"Every one prosper who protects the widow and the orphan," said Push at the young man.

"I have not lost the money yet," replied Paul hotly. "Not that I care for the money, but I do care for Sylvia Norman."

"With whom I have nothing to do."

"She is your husband's daughter."

"But not mine. This is my daughter, the legal daughter of Lemuel and myself," she added meaningfully.

"Good heavens, madam!" cried Beecot, his face turning white. "What do you mean?"

Paul sat down and concealed his face with a groan. He was thinking not so much of the loss of the money, although that was a consideration, as of the shame Sylvia would feel at her position. Then a gleam of hope darted into his mind. "Mr. Norman was married to Sylvia's mother under his own name. You can't prove the marriage void."

"I have no wish to. When did this marriage take place?"

Beecot looked at the lawyer, who replied, "Twenty-two years ago," and he gave the date.

Mrs. Krill slipped in a black morocco bag she carried and brought out a shabby blue envelope. "I thought this might be needed," she said, passing it to Push. "You will find there my marriage certificate. I became the wife of Lemuel Krill thirty years ago. And, as I am still living, I fear the later marriage." She smiled blandly and shrugged her shoulders.

"You there, Beecot?" said this gentleman coldly. "I wish you would tell this boy to let me enter."

"Brat, yourself, you toff!" cried Tracy, pocketing his money. "Ain't I a dolt?"

"But not mine. This is my daughter, the legal daughter of Lemuel and myself," she added meaningfully.

"Good heavens, madam!" cried Beecot, his face turning white. "What do you mean?"

"How do you know Mr. Beecot's name?" asked Tracy coolly.

"Lor, sir, didn't you and me pull him from under the wheel?"

"Ooh," said Tracy, suddenly enlightened, "you're the boy? Since you have washed your face I didn't recognize you. Well, Beecot, you look disturbed."

"I have reason to. And since you and this boy pulled me from under the wheels of the motor," said Paul, glancing from one to the other, "I should like to know what became of the brooch."

"I'm sure I don't know," said Tracy quietly. "We talked of this before, I guess. It's a hasty document, badly worded, and simply leaves all the testator died possessed of to—my daughter."

Pant rose and flung back his head again. "You have not got the money yet, madam," he said defiantly.

Not at all disturbed, Mrs. Krill smiled her eternal smile. "I am here to get it. There is a will, you say," she added, turning to Push. "And I understand from this gentleman," she indicated Beecot slightly, "that the money is left to Mr. Krill's daughter. Does he know Maud or Sylvia?"

Push slapped down the certificate irritably. "He names no one. The will is a hasty document, badly worded, and simply leaves all the testator died possessed of to—my daughter."

"Which of course means Maud here, I congratulate you, dear!" she said, turning to the girl, who looked happy and flushed. "Yon, father has made up to us both for his cruelty and derision."

"You never saw it drop from my pocket?"

"I should have picked it up and returned it had I seen it," said Tracy, flinging his eyeglass. "Perhaps this boy saw it."

and you told me he wanted the brooch badly."

"But he wasn't on the spot?"

"Wat," cried Tracy suddenly, "the one eyed eave! Ho, yes, but wasn't he? Why, when they was nightingale the mudhounds, all' the peckers was a-crowdin' round, he come dancing like billoo out of his sharp."

Beecot thought this was strange, as he understood from Deborah and Bart and Sylvia that Norman had known nothing of the accident at the time. Then again Norman himself had not mentioned it when he paid that visit to the hospital within a few hours of his death. "I don't think that's true," he said to Tracy sharply.

"Oh, cuss it," said the young gentleman, "wat'd I care? 'T' old eave come an' danced in the mud, and then he git's into his sharp again. Tracy is trow, wat' y' like, mister-ho-ho."

Beecot turned his back on the boy. After all, he was not worth arguing with and a lad by instinct. Still, in this case he might have spoken the truth. Norman might have appeared on the scene of the accident and have picked up the brooch. Paul thought he would tell Hurd this; and meantime, hold out his hand to Tracy. In spite of the bad character he had heard of that young man, he saw no reason why he should not be civil to him, until he found him out. Meantime, he was on the guard.

GOVERNMENT CASE AGAINST BORAH

ATTORNEY BURCH TELLS THE SENATOR'S ALLEGED PART.

HANDED ALL THE DEEDS

Idea of the Timber Land Conspiracy
Originated with State Senator John Kincaid, Says the Prosecutor.

Bulse, Idaho, Sept. 27.—In the trial of United States Senator William E. Borah, charged with timber land frauds, former Judge Burch of Detroit, special prosecutor, Thursday outlined the government's case against the senator.

It was stated to the jury that the idea of making money out of the timber lands which the United States threw open to settlement in Idaho, in tracts not to exceed 100 acres to any individual and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, originated with State Senator John Kincaid, one of the men indicted with Senator Borah. He is alleged to have gathered several men around him, among them the late Gov. Steunenberg and William Sweet, mining man. These two, it is alleged, put up the first $75 as a joint note, being the security by which the alleged frauds were inaugurated.

Forming the Conspiracy.
About this time (1899), Attorney Burch asserts, Gov. Steunenberg went to a conference called, presumably for the patriotic purpose of putting down mining troubles, and while there met a mine owner named A. B. Campbell. Through Campbell, it is alleged,

Steunenberg, who had exhausted his personal resources, met Barber and Moon, who immediately took a deep interest in Idaho timber lands. Steunenberg soon had a bank account of $38,000. It is alleged, which he checked from as "agent."

In conferring Senator Borah with the conspiracy, Mr. Burch says, the government will show that all deeds from "dummy" trustees to the Barber Lumber company passed through his office and were recorded, as the records will show, at his request. It is further stated that when four or five fraudulent claims were held up, Mr. Borah went to the home of the register of the local land office and made inquiry as to what was to be done concerning them. The register told him, it is said, that the claims were fraudulent and had better be left alone.

Woman Testifies Against Minister.
Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—The church trial of Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson, of the Methodist church of University place was resumed Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. E. A. Cross, the accusing witness, on the stand. Her testimony was similar to that given during the preliminary investigation, alleging that she had been guilty of misconduct with the minister, who was her boarder. Mrs. Cross stated that she had loved the minister, and that he had assured her that love was greater than law.

WALL STREET HEARS SOME PLAIN TALK

BISHOP OF LONDON PREACHES
FROM TRINITY PULPIT.

GREAT THROG PRESENT

Pierpont Morgan and Other Notables
Are Warned That Life Is a Stewardship, Not An Ownership.

New York, Sept. 27.—From the pulpit of historic Trinity church in the heart of the country's great financial district, Rt. Rev. Arthur Foley Wintringham Ingram, bishop of London, on Sunday delivered the message: "Life is a stewardship, not an ownership."

A greater throng perhaps never sought admission to the edifice, and when all who could be accommodated were within, hundreds lingered outside to catch a glimpse of the noted divine.

Notable Men Stand in Crowd.
No seats were reserved and pewholders of Trinity parish had to run their chances with the others.

Notable laymen and men prominent in Wall street had to stand on the edge of the crowd. J. Pierpont Morgan stood at the end of an aisle throughout the opening services. Then a younger man gave him his seat. The audience included many women. Probably there were a hundred of the clergy standing and the rest of the men seemed to have come from the banks, law offices and brokerage houses in the neighborhood.

It was surely not such an audience as the bishop was accustomed to during the nine years of his settlement work in the East End of London, as the head of the Oxford House, though his sermons now are for the most part preached from the pulpit of St. Paul's cathedral.

Hits at the Financiers.

But the bishop of London is evidently not a man who looks over his audience first and picks his words accordingly. To-day he said:

"I know not to whom I am preaching. I shall be as frank here as I am in London. No man who is really a Christian would sell his Christian bands with one dollar, the possession of which he could not justify in the sight of heaven."

The bishop presented the figure of an athletic man, tall and angular, with a deep resonant voice. He spoke slowly and distinctly and frequently emphasized his remarks with gestures.

DEPENDS ON FIFE'S ADVICE.

Lipton Will Consult Boat Designer
About Revised Challenge.

London, Sept. 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton was interviewed Thursday night after he had learned the reasons why his challenge to race for the America's cup had been declined by the New York Yacht club, and said:

"I still have plenty of time to issue another challenge but all depends upon what I am advised to do. Mr. Fife is coming especially to consult with me on the situation."

I know the New York Yacht club feels its responsibility and I am quite willing to abide by its decision, as the club certainly understands its business better than any one else. I cannot help hoping that the existing difficulty may be overcome and that a race will occur in 1908. I will do everything in my power that is reasonable to meet the wishes of our American friends. I am willing to consider most favorably the idea of challenging with a 90-foot boat, if that will be received under the conditions existing in the New York Yacht club, and if Mr. Fife can design a boat which will give me a reasonable prospect of success, and although such a boat might have to be constructed as a freak boat, even then I would be only too pleased to do it."

Officer Gone: Accounts Short.

New York, Sept. 27.—First Lieut. Charles C. Finch, Company G, Twelfth Infantry, U. S. A., the regiment forming the garrison on Governor's Island, is said to have disappeared from the island several weeks ago and Thursday Col. Lewin C. RICHARD WALTON ARRESTED.

Alleged Murderer of Chicago Woman Caught in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—Richard Walton, the negro charged with the murder of Mrs. Lillian White Grant in Chicago by strangling her September 18, was arrested Thursday morning and is being held awaiting orders from Chicago.

Walton was picked up at the corner of Twelfth and Miller streets at two o'clock in the morning by two officers on the charge of vagrancy and when taken before the police magistrate was disarmed and ordered out of the city. Before he had left the station, however, he was recognized from a photograph furnished the police, and was rearrested on suspicion. He later admitted that he was Walton, and also admitted he was wanted for several minor offenses. A reward of $500 was offered for his arrest and conviction.

Walton, it is alleged, strangled Mrs. Grant in her home while she was moving and robbed her dead body of ten dollars.

CONTRACTS TO BE RESPECTED.

Leased Wire Operators Are Not to Be Called Out.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—National President Samuel J. Small, of the commercial telegraphers, who is here to confer with Commissioner of Labor Charles P. Noll and officers of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, said Thursday night:

"The leased wire operators, under contract will not be called out. The action in New York is based on a purely local condition, and was referred to the executive board, of which I am chairman. It is the sense of this board that all contracts must be respected."

President Small said also that agreement with the companies will be reached within the next ten days and that the strike ended. He said he was not at liberty to discuss details of peace plans under way.

Nebraska Wins Rate Victory.

Omaha, Sept. 27.—Judges T. C. Munger and W. H. Munger, in the United States court Thursday night denied the injunction asked for by the railroads operating in Nebraska to prevent the state railway commission from enforcing the laws reducing grain rates. The restraining order issued some time ago by Judge T. C. Munger was dissolved. This is regarded as a decisive victory for the state, although it is presumed that the case will be appealed.

FOURTEEN DROWN IN ALABAMA.

Ferryboat Crossing the Tombigbee River Is Capsized.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 27.—A ferryboat crossing the Tombigbee river at the government works at McGraw Shoals near Jackson, Ala., late Thursday was capsized, drowning one white boy and 13 negroes. The boy was Leslie Varnville, 16 years of age, residing in Oakdale, a suburb of this city.

The scene of the accident has long been regarded as a very dangerous place by navigators of the river on account of the rapid and treacherous current and the rocky shoals there.

SAYB HARAHAN DODGES ISSUE.

Stuyvesant Fish Replies to Illinois
Central President's Circular.

New York, Sept. 27.—Stuyvesant Fish Thursday evening made public a reply to the circular letter sent out on Tuesday last by President Harran of the Illinois Central, in which he declares that the charges made by Mr. Harran were not new but had been published long ago and "each met by me and disposed of."

"But the one point at issue, to be decided by the stockholders of the Illinois Central at the coming annual meeting, is nowhere touched upon," says Mr. Fish. "That issue is this: Shall the Illinois Central become a mere feeder and fattener of the Union Pacific? Can any such perversion of the purposes and opportunities of the Illinois Central be profitable to the stockholders? Will Illinois Central stockholders submit to having all of their voice and power in the management and control of their property delegated to one man, under the power-of-attorney plan, which Mr. Harran has so adroitly used to his own profit?"
